ONE HUNDRED POUNDS Reward.

RUN-AWAY from the subscriber, about three months ago, his Negro Boy JOE.
He is rather of the mulatto kind, well known in Charles-Town, and also by many persons in the country, having worked at the Jewellers trade during the time the subscriber carried on business in Broad-street: He is a very sensible arch boy, about fifteen years old, and does not tell for his age;—by various reports of him, it seems, that he was seen with a white man in Dorchester, then again on Indian Land near Port-Royal, where having robbed a plantation, he was pursued and shot in the woods, which might only be given out as a blatant, that it might not for certain be known where he is harboured. Whoever takes him up and delivers him to the subscriber in Charles-Town, shall have TEN POUNDS reward, and if discovered to be harboured and carried off by a white man, on conviction and full proof thereof, they shall be intitled to the above reward of ONE HUNDRED POUNDS, and if by negro, to TEN POUNDS.

with them. CUDJOE is an elderly Fellow, very artful, and supposed to have enticed the others away: He has been used to the Coasting Business Southwardly, and is so well known (as well as the others) as to need no further Description.

CHARLES-TOWN, SEPTEMBER 26.

His Excellency Governor MARTIN, of North-Carolina, besides the usual Proclamations for continuing public Officers, &c. has issued one for further proroguing the General Assembly (which stood prorogued to the 10th of October) to the 15th of November next; another, enjoining the carrying into the strictest Execution all Laws against Drunkenness, Blasphemy, profane Swearing and Cursing, Lewdness, Profanation of the Lord's Day, and other dissolute, immoral, or disorderly Practices; and also the two following, which bid fair to restore the Peace and Prosperity of that Province, among the Inhabitants that remain in it.

GEORGE A.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS it hath been represented to us, that exorbitant fees are demanded and taken in the public offices of several of our colonies, to the great oppression of our subjects, and the scandal of our government; and whereas unwarrantable and dishonourable practices are objects of our highest indignation and resentment: It is our royal will and pleasure, and we do hereby strictly enjoin and require all public officers whatsoever within our province of North-Carolina, in their respective stations, not to den and or receive any other fees for public business transacted in their offices, than what have been established by proper authority, on pain of our royal displeasure, of being removed from their said offices, and prosecuted with the utmost severity of the law: Witness our trusty and well beloved JO-SIAH MARTIN, Esq; our Captain General and Govern-nor in Chief in and over our said province, at Newbern, the 22d day of August, 1771, in the eleventh year of our reign.

(Sign'd)

JOSIAH MARTIN.

By his Excellency's command.
WILLIAM PALMER D. Sec.
GOD save the KING.

NORTH-CAROLINA.
By his Excellency JOSIAH MARTIN, Esq; his Majesty's Captain-General, Governor and Commander in Chief, in and over the said Province.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS by His Majesty's royal Proclamation of this date, all Public Officers are strictly enjoined, not to demand or take any other or greater fees in their respective offices, than have been established by proper authority: I have thought fit to publish this Proclamation, hereby requiring all public officers of this province, forthwith to affix up in their respective offices, tables of their fees, to the end that all persons may know the same: And I do hereby further require the said officers to certify to me, without delay, that they have complied herewith; and that they do at the same time deliver in to me copies of the tables of their respective fees so affixed up in their several offices signed by the principal or his lawful deputy in each office, in which they shall distinguish those that are appointed by law from such as are by custom only; and herein they are not to fail, as they shall answer the contrary at their peril.

Given under my Hand, and the Great Seal of the said Province, at Newbern, the 22d Day of August, in the Eleventh Year of His Majesty's Reign, Anno Domini 1771.

JOSIAH MARTIN.

By His Excellency's Command,
WILLIAM PALMER, D. Sec.
GOD save the KING.

The Spanish Snow which put into Cape Look-Out Bay, in North-Carolina, is failed from thence. She left above ten Spaniards behind, some of which went in an English Brig-Capt. Williams, directly for Cadiz; others are gone to Virginia, and some to other English Colonies, all well provided with Cash.

On Friday last arrived here from Boston, left from Philadelphia, His Majesty's Sloop Bonetta, now commanded by Captain Matthew Squire.

The same Day returned, in the Ship Magna-Charta, Captain Richard Maitland, from London, Sir Edmund Head and Lady, and Mr. Wakefield. On the 6th Instant, in Lat.
34. Long. 60 Capt. Maitland; met with a Hurricane, which continued all the next Day, and was the most violent he had ever been in: It began with him at four in the Afternoon, the Wind then at East, increased till Nine the next Morning, continued at its Height till Six in the Afternoon, the Gale shifting to the Northward at three, and to the North-West at six, when it abated: He supposed it to have been very severe in the West-Indies.

Our New Exchange, it is said, will be finished the ensuing Week. The next Public Building that will be undertaken, may probably be a House for our Governors to reside in, which has been much wanted, and never more than at present: Possibly it may be a Part of the Business of the next Assembly; the Time of the present being near expired.

The uncommon fine Weather we have had during the present Hurricane Season, affords a pleasing Prospect to the Planters, of making many Thousand Barrels of Rice more than was expected; and that the Crop will still be large, notwithstanding the great Losses sustained by the Freshes in May and June last.

Last Friday, in the Brig. Charles-Town Packet, Captain
Wright, from Philadelphia, returned Mr. William Johnston,
Mr. John Potter, &c. of this Town, with other Passengers.

The Sloop Benjamin, Nathaniel Dickinson Master, of and from this Port for Barbados, is just now put back, distressed.
Capt. Dickinson failed from hence the 17th inst, and on the 26th Instant, in Lat. 30. Long. 66. 30, met with a Hurricane, which continued the two following Days, and put his Vessel in the Condition she is returned.

LONDON, JULY 4.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, dated June 15.

"After the nomination of the Duke d'Aiguillon, the Abbé Tetray laid before the council an estimate of the debts, and another of the expences, in order to enable the new minister to provide for the urgent want of specie. The articles of the domains, out of which all the expences of state prisoners, and the police are supplied, was absorbed, and the King creditor to that company for seven hundred thousand livres, these last ten months only, so that the prisons swarm, through the severe inquisition that prevails against faithful subjects, who cannot complain without being liable to be arrested and confined. In consequence, commissaries were appointed to examine into the state of expences; it was found that the charge of putting in execution a lettre de Cachet, and committing the prisoner, amounted to three hundred livres for Paris, and if he was ordered to be confined in any of the prisons in the provinces, the exempt received to conduct him there, fifty livres a day, and ten livres for assistants, exclusive of travelling charges and board till their return.

"That the King paid for the daily subsistence of every prisoner of state in the Bastille, from ten to fifty livres a day, according to the quality of the person, and in other royal prisons in the provinces in proportion; so that this part of the domain, which produces from ten to twelve millions a year, is wholly employed in enriching the police, its agents, and the governors of those prisons, besides a deficiency to the King's prejudice of one million and a half. We wait with impatience the report of the commissaries, after which I shall acquaint you with the new regulation. If every other department is scrutinized into, the same plunder will be discovered; and it is to be hoped that sufficient resources will be found to ease the people, which will be the only means to cure them of their prejudices against the new minister. God grant it may be so; every body hopes that gradual discoveries will be made of the malversations of those who cabal so much to get at the helm. Thus you see every thing is made a traffic of in France as well as in England: There is nothing but plundering and thieving every where; the poor rogues are hanged, and the rich ones banished; there ought to be an equal law for both.

"Louis de Brancas, Count de Lauraguais, groaning, no doubt, under the yoke of the French government, resolved to take up his residence in a foreign land; there he printed and published, in his own name, a book intitled "An Extract of the public Laws of France," printed in London. A copy was sent to M. de Maupeou, who, after having perused it, gave it to the Advocate General of the new Parliament, and upon his requisitorial, an Arrêt was issued, condemning the book to be burnt by the hands of the common hangman, which was accordingly done. This Arrêt stigmatizes the book as false in its principles and consequences, tending to excite division and discord, &c."

We hear from Stockholm, that the march of eight regiments of Russian horse to the frontiers of Finland, has occasioned two extraordinary meetings of the Senate, in the King's presence, but nothing of their deliberations has yet transpired.

JULY 6.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, dated June 27.

"The jurisdiction of the consuls, which judges of all commercial affairs, bills of exchange, orders, &c. without appeal, is the only one existing that has not been altered in the new code.

The people have been jealous of this preference, and were resolved to stop the course and execution of their sentences. The day before yesterday, two bailiffs, each of whom were attended by sixty or eighty of their assistants, went to arrest two persons, the one in the Rue St. Honore, and the other in the Rue de Bully. The populace rose upon them, and insisted upon the release of these unfortunate men. The officers made a stout resistance for a long time, but were at last obliged to give way to their opponents, whose number was considerably increased. The officers of the guet (horsemen), called the city watch, who patrol the streets at night) arrived with some detachments of soldiers, but were repulsed, upon which the French guards were sent for. At their approach the people barricaded the streets, to prevent their coming upon them, and appeared determined to repel force by force. The alarm soon spread all over the city; all the shops were shut up, and we saw ourselves on the brink of a civil war; which is indeed what we expect from one moment to another. The officers of the guards, more sagacious than those of the guet, allayed the dispute by fair means, and restored tranquility by consenting to the enlargement of the prisoners. The bailiffs, more frightened than hurt, promised never to attempt for the future to put such sentences in execution; a few blows were struck, but without any effusion of blood.

"The Chancellor has just suppressed all the commissaries of Paris (a sort of magistrates like your justices of the peace) so that we have now fifty rogues less. The exemptions of the police are invested with their authority. It is feared that the suppression of their chief, the Lieutenant of police, will follow, and that the care of the city of Paris will be entrusted to the military. A melancholly fore-runner of a total revolution, which is much apprehended!"

JULY 9.

The dispatches received yesterday from the Court of Petersburg, are said to contain a recapitulation of the articles for a suspension of hostilities between the Porte and the Empress.

Monsieur d'Alembert, the celebrated French author, has lately been offered three thousand pounds sterling per annum for undertaking the education of three of the young Russian nobility, which he rejected.

A petition is to be presented, the next session of Parliament, by a society of gentlemen, for leave to bring in a bill to prevent the exportation of horses from this kingdom.

Extract of a Letter from Petersburg, dated May 24, 1771.

"We had yesterday the most melancholy spectacles that eyes could behold. The front line on the Vasily Ostroff took fire about twelve o'clock, and burnt with inexorable fury, being kept above all the efforts of human art by a strong North-East wind, till near midnight; it extended nearly to the great Perspective in the Middle of the Island, from the seventh line down to the 17th.

"Judge of our alarm; when this dreadful fire was at its height, there broke out at the same instant of time two others of no less magnitude, one on the Petersburg side just behind the Hemp-warehouse, and the other at Colomna, just on this side of the Kalinka Bridge; and in the afternoon, about five o'clock, two more, one at the Yemsky, and the other at the Wolodyemsky.

"It is impossible to describe the consternation this occasioned in every one's face; nobody could guess where it might end, nor whole turn would come next; our line was happily saved by the wind's being down to the river; had it set right over, every house in front must have gone, from the excessive heat. Since midnight every thing has been quiet, and we trust in God we shall see no more of this dreadful disaster. The first fire on the Island began by accident at a Baker's, the others are supposed to have been all contrived by mercenary wretches, to draw off and divert the people's attention, to have an opportunity of plundering the miserable sufferers. There have been actually found many proofs of this: What punishment can equal such hellish crimes?"

"There are 60 brick houses, and at least 300 wooden houses destroyed on the Vasily Ostroff, and on the Petersburg side above 500; at Colomna 200, the two latter chiefly of wood; the other fires did less damage, being soon got under."

A ship just arrived from the Canaries brings advice, that one of the Molucca, or Dutch Clove Islands, has been almost swallowed up by an inundation of the sea, which happened in the night of the 23d of January last.

Some letters from Corte in Corsica insinuate, that the cruelty of the French have exasperated the Corsicans to such a degree, that they will soon make a fresh attempt to recover their liberty. The murmurs and defection of the French soldiers, on account of their being badly paid, clothed, and fed, render their hopes of success the more sanguine.

JULY 13.

To the KING'S Most Excellent MAJESTY.

The Humble ADDRESS, REMONSTRANCE, and PETITION, of the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen and Livery of the City of LONDON, in Common Hall assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Livery of the city of London, in the anguish of our hearts, beg leave to approach your Royal Person, and deeply to lament that we still suffer, together with many others, all those great and unparalleled grievances, which we have before submitted to your Majesty, with the hope of a full and speedy redress from our Sovereign, as the father of his people.

The same arbitrary House of Commons which violated the sacred Right of Election, and seated among themselves, as a Representative of the people, a man who was never chosen into Parliament, have the last session, proceeded to the most extravagant outrages against the constitution of this Kingdom and the liberty of the subject, of which your Majesty is the great guardian. They have ventured to imprison our chief Magistrate, and one of our Aldermen, for disobeying their illegal orders, and not violating the holy sanction of their oaths to this great city, as well as their duty to their country. They have, by the most artful suggestions, prevailed upon your Majesty to suffer your royal name to give a pretended authority to a proclamation, issued at their express desire, contrary to the known laws of the land. At length they proceeded to the enormous wickedness of erasing a judicial record in order to stop the course of justice, and to frustrate all possibility of relief by an appeal, to those laws which are the noblest birthright and inheritance of all the subjects of this realm.

During the unjust confinement of our representatives, they proceeded to a law depriving the citizens of London of a considerable part of their property in the soil of the river Thames, solemnly granted to them by divers charters, and confirmed by the authority of Parliament; and under the colour of equity, inserted in that law an unusual saving clause, subversive of the known and established laws of property; they have, without any pretence of an abuse, superseded the conservancy of the river Thames, in the liberty, which the citizens of London have enjoyed from the conquest.

We therefore, your REMONSTRANTS, again humbly supplicate your Majesty to restore our rights, and to give peace to this distracted nation, by a speedy dissolution of Parliament, and by removing your present wicked and despotic Ministers for ever from your Councils and Presence.

(Signed by Order) JAMES HODGES.

To which ADDRESS, REMONSTRANCE, and PETITION, HIS MAJESTY was pleased to return the following ANSWER.

I SHALL ever be ready to exert my prerogative, as far as I can constitutionally, in redressing any real grievances of my Subjects; and the city of London will always find me disposed to listen to any of their well-founded complaints; It is therefore with concern that I see a part of my Subjects fill so far misled and deluded, as to renew, in such reprehensible terms, a request with which, I have repeatedly declared, I cannot comply.
